HUMBLE BEGINNINGS

As the Hopelands Concert Series celebrates its remarkable 50th anniversary this year, we reflect on its history and legacy, shaped by the dedication of the City of Aiken and its people. Starting with the first concert in 1974, the Hopelands Concert Series was the idea of local citizens and executed by city management. From those humble beginnings, it grew to what it is today.

With just three events in its inaugural year and no stage, the concerts were held amidst the beauty of the gardens themselves. It wasn't until 1976 that the iconic stage we now cherish was finally built, marking a pivotal moment in the series' evolution. It was not until 1976 that the stage was built in the gardens, marking a pivotal moment in the series evolution. In 1999, the Friends of the Hopelands Gardens and Rye Patch lobbied and succeeded in having the stage named for Roland H Windham, the City Manager who oversaw the start of the Hopelands Concert Series. The Friends Group has helped secure funding and support for maintaining the stage and surrounding areas in pristine condition with the help of the City of Aiken, ensuring that the concerts can continue to be enjoyed by generations to come.

Despite facing various challenges, including navigating the uncertainties of the recent pandemic, the concert series has remained steadfast, offering peace and joy to the Aiken community year after year. Each passing season has seen its growth—a testament to the enduring affection and support it receives.

Now, as we commemorate half a century of community, we invite you to join us for this special anniversary celebration. Immerse yourself in enchanting performances by talented local artists, perfect for the entire family. Gather with loved ones amidst the natural splendor of Hopelands Gardens, and let the music uplift your spirits. The series will kick off on April 1 at 6:30 PM and continue through June 24, with concerts held every Monday evening. It's a time-honored tradition not to be missed—a celebration of music, community, and fifty years of cherished memories.
